ANOTHER CIRCUS WEEK has rolled around with much fun in store for visitors and Villagers alike. It will not be as elaborate an affair as some in recent years but there will be those events which are enjoyed most here on the desert; the Kangaroo Court and luncheon, the big parade, a Wild West Show and the Beaux Arts Ball which has become increasingly popular. We believe our visitors will enjoy them all, as our year around re-

FOR THREE YEARS The Desert Sun has been advocating the appointment of a full-time city attorney. Failure of the city council to act and of the city attorney to relinquish the post voluntarily has allowed a situation to prevail against which there has been constant protest. The objection to the city attorney also carrying on a private practice has been more frequently voiced in recent years as the city has grown so rapidly. It was welcomed news in many quarters when the rumor was passed around town for the past two weeks that the city attorney was going to

It happened last Wednesday night a couple of hours after The Desert Sun had gone to press with the Thursday edition. In usual fashion the city council had the thing all wrapped up and ready for delivery when they met Wednesday --- although they did have to recess for ten minutes before announcing that Jerry Bunker had been named the new city attorney. There was no open discussion; it was just cut and dried, Nathanson said that the house at 1147 Alejo road, which was built four years ago at a cost of $153,000 is being purchased by Mrs. George Machris. The purchase price was not revealed. Nathanson thought that the lien story was due to the fact that the government has filed notice of intention to lien, which Sinatra's lawyers have the privilege of answering. The property could not be sold if there was a lien on it, he said.

The government claims that Sinatra owes $110,000 in back taxes, and Riverside county is waiting for $994 in taxes on the Palm Springs house.

Circus Week again
At this traditional high m ment of Palm Springs' event-crowded calendar, this reporter confesses to being a little un decided whether to whip the pewriter keys into a lively gal ek's entertainment whether to loosen the bridle of fancy and trot sedately back ward through memories of other spectacular Desert Circus Weeks in America's foremost desert

Like Bret Harte's famous cow

y, we'll probably just lear to the saddle and gallop wildly in all directions . . . but what we'd like to say is that the weight of years and the impact anong those mentohed as being active in that impromptu creation are Earl Coffman, George Roberson, Earle Strebe, the late Alvah Hicks and his sons Milt and Harold, the late Thelma Wertheimer Davis, and Palm Springs perennial cowgirl, Little Bear.

In case you are under the impression that traffic in Southern California has been getting thicker in recent years here is proof for your impression.

Los Angeles county alone has more automobiles than 41 states. And one of the remaining seven states is of course California. Since no part can be greater than the whole. Los Angeles county obviously can't have more automobiles than California. There are actually then only six states that outly Los Angeles county if very active in community projects, especially sports and spec-

> • The appointment of Hicks and Strebe by the newly-reor-ganized Desert Circus association represented a break with more recent tradition which for the past 10 years or so has bestowed the honors of general chairman and high sheriff on popular Winter residents . . . generally gen-tlemen of considerable financial standing and with a fondness for desert glamor.

Many of them have served Many of them have served very capably indeed, bringing to the organization of Desert Cir-cus all the executive ability which helped them build million-dollar businesses.

• A few years back Harry Harper, former manager of the Palm Springs Chamber of Com-merce and now director of Riverside's United Fund appeal and similar civic campaigns, acted as executive secretary for a couple of Desert Circus Weeks . . . and at that time Harper estimated that over the years, Circus Weeks had raised some $75,000 for local civic, religious and charitable groups.

However, despite the fact that
Desert Circus is a lot of fundraising fun for good causes, just about everyone who ever spent any part of Circus Week in Palm Springs will agree that the truly big show is the one that costs big show is the one that costs nothing . . and that's the Saturday morning parade, a two-hour, two-mile stream of beauty and ingenuity it would be hard to match anywhere in the United States except in New Orleans during Mardi Gras or at the Philadelphia's Mummers parade.

• From all the coffee-counter

• From all the collee-counter rumors we hear, this 1953 Des-ert Circus parade will match those of previous years With El Mirador's Ray Ryan as high sheriff, El Mirador will sponsor the queen float carrying filmdom's Bonita Granville

After this concert the chorus will resume its regular rehearsal schedule in order to give a concert later in the Society

Frances Stevens school. All who wish to sing with this group are welcome to come.

"Elijah" is a musical drama in oratorio form. It tells of the faith of Elijah and his people when they were beset by man difficulties. Elijah was one of the major prophets of the Old Testament, and his story is a dramatic one. Some of Mendelssohn's best-known and mostloved music comes from this oratorio.

Between Chi Chi and the Chamber of Commerce will continue until April 20.

Mrs. Law, who is returning to Canada on April 21, is showing the collection of her husband's work, which is internationally known.

The artist, Mr. Law, had two one-man shows in New York, which were well received by the art critics. His work has been shown in the art galleries and museums both in the United States and in Canada.

FIFTY YEARS—Members of The Desert Sun staff and their wives or husbands honored Editor R. F. (Phat) Graettinger at a dinner, observing the anniversary of the day he started in the newspaper business . . . fifty years ago.

Dinner Party Fetes Fifty Years on Job

By STAFF REPORTER
When 30 Desert Sun staff members and their wives or husbands honored Editor R. F. (Phat)
Graettinger at a dinner Thursday night it was in recognition of his 50 years in the newspaper business, and a tribute to the man who has been editor of the Desert Sun since 1941.

It was a complete surprise to the guest of honor, who was overwhelmed when he arrived at the Doll House to be greeted by "FFOT He's a Jolly Good Fellow" played by the Guadalajara trio. Adding to his surprise was the arrival of Gwen Bari, who came over from El Mirador's Supper Club to sing two of his favorite songs, especially for Phat.

A steak dinner, topped off by a candle-lit cake, was hosted by Doll House owner George Strebe. Congratulatory telegrams were received during the dinner and between the staff members and their wives or husbands honored Editor R. F. Palm Springs' El Mirador hotel has been selected as the setting for the San Bernardino Assistance league's second annual Starlight Ball on Saturday evening, April 25.
Although planned as a charticy event, the ball will be the outstanding event of the year for the league and its guests and will climax the Spring season for El Mirador.
Around 600 guests are expected to gather for the cocktail hour, from 7 to 8, and for the buffet dinner that will follow. Decorations will be supervised by Miss Margaret Buxton, whose work at the Turf club at Santa Anita has been much admired. Bill Bardo and his orchestra will play during the evening for the dancing, and George Kainapau and his Serenaders will play.

of the Palm Springs Playhouse Guild.

The Guild, a non-profit organization, to promote the Playhouse and to assist in selling tickets, was formed Friday afternoon. Some 40 persons attending the meeting will serve as a nucleus of the Guild.

Attorney Rex Hardy, serving as temporary chairman, conducted the meeting.

It was decided that organizations selling tickets for the Playhouse shall receive a 10 percent commission on their sales and that the price of a book of 10 tickets will be $22.50, with single admission tickets at the box office remaining $3 each.

The Guild is the result of a movement started by some of the Playhouse patrons who have been concerned about the possibility of losing the "theater in the round" which has added so much to the Village's recreation. A meeting had been held a week earlier at the Smoke Tree Ranch home of the John Lucareris and at that time Mrs. Luccareni, Mrs. G. K. Rogers, who is concluding a deveke season, presents "Angel Street" this week. The show, which opens tomorrow night, has four of the stock company's most popular players, Tim O'Connor, Helen Stenborg, Barney Hughes and Mary Foskett in the cast.

The sole requirement for membership in the Guild is the purchase of one or more tickets for next season.

Visitor Honored
